PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

After 8 successful years in government contracting, I am embarking on a career change into web development/design as well as a move to the Charlotte, NC area. My work history has provided me with strong business skills, such as organization, attention to detail, and the ability to work well individually, as part of a team, or in a leadership role. Please check out my portfolio at www.jen-duvall.com for more information about my web development education, examples of recent work, and skills.
